

COMPANY PROFILE

Yantai Jingli automotive testing equipment co.,Ltd is located in the beautiful and fertile mountain city - Yantai. The company covers an area of more than 8000 square meters, and it owns independent technical center, perfect production and convenient, efficient after-sales service system, specializing in automotive testing equipment research and development design, manufacturing and selling well both at home and abroad market. Our company has the rights of import and export.

Our main products: 3D wheel alignment machine, two post car lift, clear-floor two post car lift, double decks scissor car lift, single deck scissor car lift, tire changer, tire balancer, spray booth, car frame machine (whole bench moveable, square holes, bolt holes, European export style), products can be customized according to customer needs.

Our company own Ten thousand watt laser cutting machine, Integrated steel plate bending machine, robot welding, Spray paint, Waterproof rustproof and other advanced production equipment and technology as well as strict quality inspection process

The company's Research and Development team closely focuses on the latest international technology, constantly bring forth the new, according to customer needs, producing safe and practical, high quality car maintenance and testing equipment for customer.

